

52 Things to Support your Child's Speech and Language Skills.

Odd One Out!

This is a portable game and can be played with your child anywhere. The adult says three words, two of which belong to the same category and one word which is the odd one out, for example: 'blue, chocolate, red.' Then ask your child which is the odd one out? The answer is chocolate because you eat it, and blue and red are colours. Make sure the answer (the odd one out) changes position in the list, so it is not always the first or last word.

Other examples:

sock

apple

pear

fruit

vegetable

plane

dress

chair

bed

cat

green

dog

Make it easier:

- Use objects/pictures that you have at home, for example, food, clothes, toys, cutlery.

Make it harder:

- Use 4/5 words - ask your child to explain which is the odd one out and why?
- Link to a topic your child is learning about at school, for example, Pluto, Mercury, Venus, car, Earth.

turret, tower, portcullis, drawbridge, shoe.
